

Chris Starkie joined in May 2008, after five years as Business Editor of the Eastern Daily Press, the country's best selling regional morning newspaper.

While at the EDP Chris was named Business Journalist of the Year for the East of England three years running.

His career has also included spells on the newsdesk of Anglia Television in Norwich, as assistant news editor of the Western Daily Press in Bristol and news editor of Bristol radio station Star 107.3. Chris was also previously business editor of the Bristol Evening Post and began his career as a journalist with the Burton Mail in Staffordshire.

He was educated at Nottingham University and Cardiff University, and is married with one daughter.